Governor Unveils Details of $1.5 Million Emergency Rental Assistance Program

Over the weekend, Governor Gina Raimondo recognized the overwhelming impact COVID-19 has had on low-income Rhode Islanders and their housing:

“There are many folks out there who are finding themselves in difficult financial positions and are worried about paying their bills and affording a place to live. No one should have to worry about this right now.”

– Governor Gina Raimondo

In response to these concerns, the Governor announced a $1.5 million EMERGENCY RENTAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM to help Rhode Islanders avoid homelessness during this crisis. Grants can be as high as $5,000, they cannot be used to pay future rent payments, and only one grant can be given per household. To learn more and/or fill out an application for these funds, visit the Housing Help RI website.
For those who do not have regular internet access and/or have questions about the application process, call the United Way at “211” for help.
